5 THINGS TO KNOW

1 Elizabethtown and Swarthmore play for the 20th time in the all-time series. E-town leads 16-3 and have won six straight over the Garnet. The teams last met in 2011 at Swarthmore, a 2-1 win for the Blue Jays. The series dates back to September 30, 1986. Elizabethtown won the first-ever matchup, 3-2.

2 After thumping Moravian 4-0 last Wednesday, a toughest test came to Wolf Field on Saturday. The Blue Jays faced off with Scranton in a pivotal Landmark Conference contest. The Royals, a game behind the Blue Jays, could have dropped Elizabethtown from the top of the Landmark to third with a win.

Maggie Fees found a cutting Brooke Zehr in the first half and the sophomore redirected the ball into the cage to give E-town a 1-0 lead in the first half. Scranton scored late in the second half to force overtime. Both teams had chances to put the game away in sudden death, but ultimately, a shootout was needed. Zehr and Fees both scored for Elizabethtown in the shootout and Margo Donlin forced the final shot wide to give the Jays the 2-1 shootout victory, their ninth win in a row.

Fees and Donlin, last week's Landmark Conference Offensive and Defensive Athletes of the Week, swept the league's weekly awards for the second consecutive week. Fees had a goal and two assists last week in a pair of wins while Donlin's shutout of Moravian was her seventh of the season.

3 Swarthmore won three of its first four games, but have gone 2-7 since. Freshman Marion Carr leads the Garnet with six goals. She had a hat trick on Sept. 26 in a win over Neumann. Senior goalie Zelda Bank has been the Centennial Conference's Defensive Player of the Week once this season, the first of her career on Sept. 10, after a 2-0 week that included a shutout of Susquehanna and helping Swarthmore to a four-goal victory, 5-1, over Immaculata. Bank eclipsed the 400-save mark for her career in the loss to #17 Johns Hopkins.

4 The offense started off slowly in 2018, but during the Blue Jays' current nine-game win streak, they have outscored opponents 20-5, only once allowing more than one goal in a game and scoring two or more in six of those games. E-town has thrived on the defense's ability to limit the opposition while being opportunistic at the other end.

5 Elizabethtown travels to Goucher on Saturday, October 20, at 1 p.m. to try and extend its unbeaten streak in the Landmark Conference to 6-0.
